Fred St. John, who works for E. K. Hutchinson on Cobble hill, had the good fortune yesterday to bring down a large hawk, which has troubled people in that neighborhood this season. The hawk measured three feet and eight inches from tip to tip and weighed four and one-half pounds.

Accompanied by Coaches Hoernle and Early, the football squad from Goddard seminary set out for Rutland this morning to play the first of two games with St. Peter's A. A. So far as form is concerned, the team is well conditioned, but there was not a hint of overconfidence in their speculations on the game, as St. Peter's has proved a worthy adversary in the past and the issue of today's contest was regarded as being very much in doubt. The coaches expected to start the game with the same line-up which figured in the opening stages of the Colby game a week ago, with plenty of reserves in case of need.

Stephen C. Driscoll of St. Albans, state deputy supreme knight, will arrive in the city Sunday afternoon to be present at the installation of officers of the council, No. 401, Knights of Columbus, which is to be held in the council hall in the Scampini building directly after the evening services in St. Monica's church. The officers will be elevated to their chairs by District Deputy Scully and his assistants and the address of the evening will be delivered by Mr. Driscoll. Arrangements for the meeting are in charge of John Hartigan, grand knight of the local council, who with other officers was elected for the ensuing year at a meeting two weeks ago.

George Woolsey left the city this morning for Sherbrooke, P. Q., where he was called by the death of his father, Daniel Woolsey, a former resident of Grantville, who passed away at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, the end following an illness of short duration. The deceased is survived by a daughter, Mrs. D. R. Murray of Phillipsburg, Mont., and two sons, George Woolsey of this city, who recently moved here from Graniteville, and W. J. Woolsey of Thetford Mines, P. Q. The deceased lived in Grantville for some years until his removal to Sherbrooke last February. He had been enjoying good health until recently, when lung trouble developed. Funeral services will be held in Sherbrooke Monday and interment is to be made in that city.

A service runabout used by W. B. Mower of the Harvey & Mower concern on Jefferson street figured in a singular mishap yesterday as the driver turned the little vehicle into Elm street. Almost without warning a fracture developed in the rear axle, but before any complications could ensue, Mr. Mower had applied the brake and was setting out on foot for the garage. In his absence someone hung a "For sale" card on the hood of the runabout and when the driver drew near in another car, he found a sizeable crowd awaiting him with a repertoire of offers. Among the first to bargain for the car was ex-Senator Harry Daniels of East Montpelier and for a few moments Mr. Mower had a busy time explaining that the runabout wasn't for sale.

Announcements have been received in Barre of the wedding in Newport on Wednesday of Miss Marjorie Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Nelson, and Ona S. Seales. The groom will be remembered as a former Barre boy, who went from here to Newport several years ago and later established himself in a lucrative retail jewelry business. Here in Barre Mr. Seales attended Goddard seminary and was later employed in F. E. Burr's jewelry store, where he learned the watchmaker's trade. The Newport Express and Standard prints the following account of the wedding: "The marriage of O. S. Seales and Miss Marjorie Nelson took place at noon Wednesday, at the Congregational parsonage, the ceremony being performed by Rev. L. A. Edwards. Mr. and Mrs. Seales are two of the town's most popular young people and hearty congratulations and best wishes are extended by many friends. They will reside in the Lambert block on Bayview avenue."

Spoke without Thinking.

As the doctor was showing some of his friends through an insane asylum he drew their attention to a stately old woman wearing a paper crown. He explained that she imagined she was the queen of England, and for their amusement he advanced towards her with a courtly bow and said: "Good morning, your majesty."

The old woman looked at him and remarked scornfully: "You're a fool, sir."

The doctor was greatly astonished, but totally collapsed when one of the party remarked innocently: "Why, doctor, she was sane enough then."—Boston Transcript.

THE UNION DRY GOODS COMPANY

SEARCHING FOR COAL.

The Explorations Are Being Conducted in Eastern Idaho.

In response to numerous requests of residents of Idaho an examination of certain reported coal fields in the eastern part of the state was made last summer by a geologist of the United States geological survey, department of the interior, in order that any coal land present in this part of the state might be classified and thus made available for local mining, so as to relieve the high prices and threatened scarcity of fuel. This work has just been completed, and the results are not at all encouraging so far as the development of a local supply is concerned.

The areas examined fall within four districts: (1) The Willow Creek-Caribou district, including prospects on Willow Creek, on John Gray's outlet, and in the Fall Creek basin; (2) The Pine Creek district, including the region between the head of Pine Creek on the northwest and Palisade Creek on the southeast and also Burns Capon; (3) The Teton Basin, including the valleys of Horseshoe Mahogany, Patterson, and Trail creeks; (4) the Continental Divide district, in T. 14 N., R. 38 E. and 40 E.

In the first two of these districts coals with some impure coal is present in beds ranging in thickness from a few inches to four or five feet. As a rule the coals portions of these beds are not persistent, but wedge in and out. Lumps of usable coal may be obtained here and there, but commercial development is impracticable. The rock formation in which these coal beds occur is not the one in which the active mines of western Wyoming are located.

The only productive part of the Teton Basin is the Horseshoe district. Though conditions in this district are such that large-scale development is impracticable, work now in progress will probably make possible a somewhat greater yield than that of last season. There is little chance that workable coal beds will be discovered elsewhere in the basin. During the examination of the Teton Basin several reported indications of oil were investigated, but these do not indicate the presence of oil in paying quantities.

On the continental divide in T. 14 N., R. 38 E., a 32-inch bed of good coal was found, but the area in which it crops out is not large, and its remoteness from lines of transportation and a suitable market makes its early exploitation doubtful.

In the districts examined two substances occur that are commonly mistaken for coal, namely, phosphate rock and obsidian, a black volcanic glass. The phosphate rock is found in the Teton Basin, and the obsidian in the Continental Divide district.
